Learning Journal

16-01-2019
I had a great and warm welcome to the Openclassrooms
community, it is a great environment with awesome people ready to guide you in all possible ways. I joined the Openclassrooms workplace and met other awesome students from Openclassrooms studying different courses, which I introduce my self to the front-end developer workplace group.

20-01-2019
I was paired with my mentor, I joined the a group created by my mentor on hangout and also contacted him on skype.

23-01-2019
The Openclassrooms onboarding webinar took place today
for the new students studying the front-end web developer track, we were introduced to so many things and were allowed to ask questions about Openclassrooms in a whole.

24-01-2019
As a front-end developer I started with the first course on my path which was welcome to OC community which wa
swelcoming, after which I started understanding the web and finished it, then I went on to book a session with my mentor Vinay Bansal.

25-01-2019
I started working on my project, I continued with the next course, made my resume, stated my learning goals.

26-01-19
I had my first mentorship session with mentor Vinay
Bansal which I hoped will be educational and helpull,
during the session we talked about so many things like how im I adapting and how is it going, he answered some all the question I asked and we called it a day.

27-01-2019
I finished my project and submitted it, after then I notified my menthor of the submission and booked another session.

28-01-2019
I missed a session with my mentor due to some technical errors, but I continue to read on my second project and booked for another session.

29-01-2019

I habd a session with my menthor he went through my project I presented it to him , he made some corrections and asked me to fix them and re-submit them for further check. It was'nt easy fixing those corections though.